HAVE THE RELATIONSHIP YOU WANT

A Step-By-Step Woman’s Guide To Transforming Your Love Life Overnight!

Rori Raye
You can have the relationship you want. You can be cherished and adored. You can be happy. And it can happen quickly.

I know, because I’ve been where you are right now – wanting so desperately to feel completely loved.

When I finally learned how to not only attract a good man, but to inspire his lifelong devotion and make sure our connection was always deepening – I did it using the Tools in this book.

Many years ago when I was single, I was as unhappy with my love life as any woman I’ve ever coached. I had no idea what “I was doing wrong” – or why every “relationship” I was involved in, and every man I loved, seemed to be more a figment of my imagination than anything real.

I’d invest all my time, love, energy – even over  years – into something that turned out to be “friends with benefits” or just evaporated into thin air. I questioned my judgment. I questioned my attractiveness.

And then I met my husband.

Only a few years into the marriage with this man who clearly loved me and wanted to be with me, I was as unhappy, unfulfilled and confused as I’d ever been.

I call these “the awful years” of my marriage. I was bouncing in and out of it emotionally, I was anxious, miserable, furious, sleepless and scared. There was little sex, little fun and no peace.

Couple’s therapy didn’t help at all – it made me feel angrier and even more helpless. Desperate, I read, experimented, made stuff up and concentrated on doing what I could do to make myself feel better.

So – it was a total shock when my marriage turned completely around in two weeks.

Now, my relationship with my husband is truly sensational – and it gets better every day.

In these pages, I’ll show you how to transform your own relationship or make that one special man fall deeply in love with you, regardless of how bad things seem right now. And you can do it all by yourself, without the cooperation of your man, without even talking to him about it – practically overnight. (You can read all about my story and exactly how I transformed my own love life at the end of the book.)
This book is the foundation for everything I teach. In order to get the most out of it, I encourage you to read it in chronological order and do all the exercises (“the Tools”) in each chapter. This will help you quickly understand the reasoning and concept behind the new skills you’ll be learning, then easily put those skills into practice so you can start experiencing the love life you’ve always dreamed of.

I’m so thrilled you’re reading this now, and I applaud you for taking the risk of changing things, as they are, in order to get what you want. When the new Tools you’ll find in this book work for you for the first time, you’ll be amazed. And they will continue to work, taking you as far into love as you’re willing to go.

Love, Rori

Why It’s So Hard To Feel Loved

As women, we’ve all dreamed of being loved, held, touched, emotionally cherished and committed to for life by a man we can respect and love.

And I know you’ve already tried nearly everything you could think of to have this kind of love life you’ve always dreamed of.

Though your dream of love may seem like a long road from where you are now, getting to your goal – toward any goal – involves a series of steps.

Each step in this book is in the form of a new skill, or Tool, designed to bring a man toward you with hardly any effort at all on your part. Each Tool is designed to make you magnetic to a man – instead of invisible.

When you put the Tools in this book together, it becomes a roadmap you can follow toward your goal of a great relationship, no matter where you’re finding yourself right now. And that roadmap gets you back on track to your goal no matter what happens “on the road.” Even if you get sidetracked or stalled – the Tools will get you where you want to be.

The principles behind my Tools are simple, and yet what you’re about to learn is the complete opposite of everything you’ve ever read, heard or been taught your whole life.

The Way Men Fall (and Stay) in Love Is Different From The Way We Women Fall

We’ve been taught, whether through our upbringing or through books and movies, that men should love us just because we’re smart, pretty, funny, clever, a good sport, sexy, good in bed, have a good personality, are a good friend or because we’re a decent and nice woman.

Only, they don’t.

Men don’t fall in love because of some checklist of qualities that look good “on paper.” We think they do, because that’s the way women get excited about a man.

We make checklists, we check off boxes on the check lists, we weigh and value and label and think and analyze and try to solve problems and figure a man out. We fall in love with ideas. We fall in love with a man’s potential.

We fall in love with our sexual attraction to a man. We are enamored with how we’re feeling around him. And we fall in love when a man treats us the way we treat ourselves, whether that ends up being pleasurable or painful.

Men, on the other hand, just feel in their “gut” (we might refer to this as “thinking with their dicks”) whatever it is they feel about us. It can make a man act clueless, or angry, or depressed, or insensitive. It can make him move in toward us fast, or it can make him withdraw and run away from us.

And when a man falls in love with us, he falls hard.

He might feel sexually attracted to 100 women in a room – but he only falls for one.

What Really Makes Him Fall for You

What inspires a man to fall in love? What makes him want to be around you? A man is compelled to be with you and to love you because of reasons that have nothing to do with:

- Being as smart as he is.
  (Actually, you just need to be “smart enough” to understand what he’s talking about and what’s important to him.)
- Being nurturing and helpful.
  (The more nurturing and helpful you are, the more masculine energy you are and the faster and further you’ll drive him away. You’ll learn more about masculine and feminine energy throughout this book.)
- Being good in bed.
  (You just need to have a good time yourself when he makes love to you. You just need to LET him love you.)
- Making good money, having a good job and being successful.
  (You just have to be able to take care of yourself and perhaps half your children’s financial needs. In other words – you have to be able to be okay without a man.)
- Working hard to move the relationship forward.
  (Even THINKING about moving the relationship forward makes him stall even more. Yes, it’s frustrating to have had all this wrong information all these years.)
- Making him the center of your world.
  (Making him the center of your world is the fastest way to kill his attraction for you.)
- Playing hard to get.
  (Playing anything is the second fastest way to kill the attraction.)
- Being childless.
Children create new, different, fresh and VERY powerful bonds for a man, and create deep “family” feelings in him – which makes you MORE attractive.

Here’s the basic truth about love and relationship: A man can’t connect to you through his mind, or his body, or what you have in common spiritually.

Those are all myths, and the reason why we so often struggle to truly connect with a man. We think if only we say the right things and act the right way, as in the list above, it will logically lead to a man adoring us and wanting us forever.

Only it doesn’t work that way.

Men are simple, but they’re not stupid. In some ways, they listen to their hearts and guts way more than we women do.

All a man cares about is how he feels when he’s around you. He wants to feel turned on – sexually, emotionally and romantically – and he also wants to feel completely safe to be himself. That means totally, 100% accepted and loved for who he is.

If he doesn’t feel safe expressing who he is, he can’t really feel safe to be himself around you, and that prevents him from truly connecting with you.

When You Give Him Safety, He Gives You Intimacy

The way a man will feel safe around you is if he feels that you feel safe to express who you really are around him. That means no pretending, no denying, no stuffing down of your true self. You can’t use your logic and intellect (or your body) to connect to him, and he can’t think his way into loving you.

The ONLY way he can connect to you is through his heart, and the only way you can connect to his heart is to go through YOUR heart. If you’re in touch with and constantly sharing what’s in your heart with him, you’ll connect with his heart. Love will happen and he’ll fall for you.

So here’s your job: To change the assumptions you’ve been operating under, and do EVERYTHING DIFFERENTLY!

Even more than what you’re not doing – what isn’t working for you is what you ARE doing!

What isn’t working is the result of trying to be everything to a man that doesn’t connect with his heart. You’re trying to be his best buddy, his therapist, his sex kitten, his business partner or a woman he has a “family” obligation to.

We’ve all been taught to think this way, and do things this way, and then we wonder why love isn’t showing up.

This happens because instead of operating from our hearts, we operate from our heads – thinking, analyzing, figuring out, solving, doing, making things happen, explaining, managing
And “telling.”

And the one place where love blossoms – our hearts – is a place we’ve all been taught to avoid like the plague, because we’ve been taught to avoid and hide our emotions:

- We’ve been told to “think through” our problems and “get over it” whenever we’re overwhelmed with emotion
- We’ve been told to avoid conflict, rise above our passionate feelings, and stay calm and cool

But it’s through our heart and our emotions that true connection can actually take place with another human being.

A man will feel connected with you because he’ll feel safe to experience and express his emotions, because you’re comfortable experiencing and expressing yours.

Using Your Feelings To Connect With His Heart

As a woman, you have the unique ability to access and express your emotions, which is the single best way for you to connect with a man where it counts... his heart.

In this book, you’ll learn to use your feelings to make a man feel safe and turned on. You’ll learn why your feelings matter, how to know what it is you’re feeling (versus just thinking), and then how to express those feelings in a way that’s magnetic and increases intimacy and trust. As you do this, you’ll be able to connect with his heart. He’ll feel he’s finally “home” with you.

Here’s an important extra bonus: If you’re not used to this way of relating with a man, you’ll very likely experience scary feelings of vulnerability when you use the Tools in this book. You’ll feel exposed and not in control of the situation.

That’s actually a good thing! Because when you use these Tools, another unexpected benefit will show up. Your confidence and self-esteem will rise up to a level you never thought possible, because you’ll be and feel more authentic and more “yourself” than ever before.

You’ll see that the “control” you were feeling before was a false sense of control, and you’ll “get” (in a series of “a-ha” moments) that vulnerability is critical for you. It’s essential to your creating a deeply intimate and loving relationship – with anyone, not just a man.

This book is about turning your love life around. And this means completely reversing everything you’ve been doing up to now that hasn’t been working. But it doesn’t mean you’ll have to do a lot of work, or that it’s going to require you to pretend and playact.

In fact, small, simple shifts in the words you choose and your body language is all it takes to bring more affection and adoration to your love life.

This book is not intended to change who you are – it’s intended to help you become more comfortable in your own skin.

What you’ll “get,” on a deep level inside yourself, is that it’s not about what you look like or what you do for a man that changes things. It’s about how comfortable you are in your own skin, in your own body, in your own heart and mind and soul that turns him on.

Why?

Because the more comfortable you are in your own skin, the more a man believes – down to his toes – that you’re comfortable with his skin.

In other words, if you’re able to express yourself honestly, authentically and without judgment, he believes you’ll accept him when he’s being honest and authentic. He will feel safe around you.

And, again – because this is so important – a man falls in love when he feels safe with you.

So this is a complete turnaround of everything we women have ever thought, been taught and practiced our entire lives. A man falls in love because he feels safe around us. He falls in love because he connects to our heart, and we connect to his.

We Need to Stop What Doesn’t Work

We women are born desiring deep emotional connection to each other, to men and to the planet, but we’ve been raised to stuff our real selves down and skitter along the surface of life.

We’ve settled for creating endless, superficial interactions that go nowhere and so end up in situations where connection can never happen.

We’ve been taught to use all the wrong parts of ourselves to create connection and love, such as our looks, our intellect and our sexuality. When that connection doesn’t happen, and when we get disappointed by men, we end up feeling hopeless that true love can even exist for us.

And we’ve been trained to believe things about certain emotions – like anger, disappointment, fear, frustration, expectation, guilt and shame – that undermine our belief in the possibility of emotions like joy, bliss and peace.

We’ve been trained to “go” in certain directions, and say and do certain things when we feel anger, disappointment, fear, frustration, expectation, guilt and shame – and those directions are simply the wrong ones.

Our training has been our undoing.

We need to unlearn all the things that don’t work.
The 5 Keys To Creating A Great Relationship

“Many of us spend our lives saying we would give anything for love, while we’re often really pushing it away.” (Merle Shain)

If you’re not used to it, love can be scary. If you’re used to always being in control, being in love can feel like being crazy.

Learning to “undo” is much easier when you go in baby steps and have simple, practical techniques that really work. That’s where my Tools come in. And don’t worry, you can go through each one at your own pace. To make things even easier, I’ve broken them down into my 5 Keys to a Great Relationship – each of the 5 Keys lays a foundation for the next.

THE 5 KEYS:

1. Love Yourself Absolutely
2. Choose Feminine Energy
3. Give Up Control And Get Partnership
4. Receive Love From The Masculine
5. Express The Feminine

Think of these 5 Keys as your roadmap to the land of intimacy – filled with excitement, vulnerability, sensuality, respect and love.

Key 1: “Love Yourself Absolutely” is about your beliefs. Beliefs about men, about any one particular man, beliefs about how relationships work, how the differences between men and women work – and exactly why you need to change your beliefs to get what you want in love.

Key 2: “Choose Feminine Energy” is about feminine/masculine energy, and why it’s so important to reclaim your feminine “girl” energy, give a real job to your masculine “boy” energy and know how to switch hats between the two.

We women have been trained to operate 100% of the time in our boy energies, and that pretty much ensures we will never fully attract a masculine-energy man who knows how to love us. In this section, you’ll be able to decide which energy primarily works best for you and your relationship, when to use your different energies, and how to make subtle shifts in words and body language to inhabit either your masculine or feminine energy.

Key 3: “Give Up Control And Get Partnership” is about how feminine energy means giving up control, why this works and how to do it – even if giving up control seems to go against our instincts.

Key 4: “Receive Love From The Masculine” is about how to truly let a man love you. I know this sounds easy, but receiving, next to giving up control, is the last thing in the world any of us wants to do!

How can this be? How can we not want to receive love? I’m going to explain why we’re all so afraid to receive love, and why intimacy is even more scary to us than it is to men. You’ll learn how to listen deeply and how to come from a place of appreciation and gratitude instead of criticism and anger.

Key 5: “Express The Feminine” is about the power of your feminine energy expressed through your words, your body language, your “vibe” – your very presence in the world.

You’ll learn how to turn your emotions – even all the old, hardened ones you’ve been denying or bottling inside – into the most attractive thing about you to nearly any man.

Your feelings truly are your biggest asset – they’re your major weapon in your arsenal of being a woman. Emotions make you irresistible and powerful. You’ll learn how to identify your emotions, how to put them into words, and how to use them to connect with his heart.

How The 5 Keys Work Together To Create The Relationship You Want

Using the Tools contained within these keys will help you start to unwind and unknot all that wrong training. You’ll be able to reset your entire mental, emotional, physical and spiritual ways of doing and experiencing things, recalibrate your beliefs about men and relationships, and set out on a new course for love.

You’ll learn why controlling and managing kills attraction and drives a man away.

Right now, you may believe you need to take control of your relationship in order to fix it. You may think you need to be the one to move it forward, to make all the plans, to take care of everything on a date, in your relationship and in your household, to advise and criticize your man in order to “get things done” the way you want them.

But a man doesn’t want to be managed and controlled. He wants to be respected and accepted for who he is, and he wants to feel he has the ability to make you happy.

When you criticize and manage, he feels like he’s failed. He stops feeling safe to be himself around you. He begins to lose attraction for you.

He doesn’t even know this “consciously.” He doesn’t know why he feels the way he does – he just feels it.
On the other hand, simply being where you are and who you are and receiving love as it comes to you (even if you have to imagine it coming to you) increases attraction and literally magnetizes a man to you.

Staying emotionally open no matter what’s going on allows you to receive love, even if you don’t think it’s coming at you.

You’ll also learn why choosing to be the feminine-energy partner in your relationship will get you what you want from your man. You’ll discover how gratitude and appreciation – even for the seemingly small things – repairs relationships and builds trust. It allows you to receive love from the masculine and create an environment where you can be adored.

I’m so confident that with this completely new mindset and these new skills, you’ll not only regain hope – you’ll have the relationship you want.

Change Can Happen Quickly

How fast can you turn your love life around?

Change can happen quickly when you turn around everything you do and think. I know you’ll turn things around 180°, because I’ve seen it happen over and over with my clients. I know you can do this, because I’ve done it. I had as little self-esteem, self-love and self-knowledge as anyone I’ve ever coached. My habits and the way I treated myself and thought of myself, and the dysfunctional way I related to men, were as deeply ingrained in me as in every woman I’ve ever coached.

When I look back on my love life, it’s a jumble of memories of feeling humiliated almost nonstop.

I could never attract or keep a man who might know how to love me and be emotionally close to me because of my own competitiveness, my inability to speak clearly and truthfully about what I was feeling, my passive-aggressive way of expressing all my stuffed-down anger, my “Overfunctioning” (more on this later) and my tragic inability to feel what I was feeling. For most of my life, I tried to be a good girl. I had a stiff upper lip, rarely expressed pain if a man treated me badly, put up with all kinds of humiliating experiences and smiled when I really wanted to scream or cry.

In a sense, I was a liar. I was pretending all the time.

Slowly, over time, I tried different things and experimented with new ways of being around men. I stopped pretending. I opened my heart. I stopped trying so hard to fix everything and do everything and just allowed myself to experience being with a man.

I developed the effortless Tools that I’ve been using and teaching my clients ever since. My love life turned on a dime – not just once but twice! – during two separate challenges.

I want to give you hope that you’re in the right place, and that you’ve made the right decision in getting this book. However things are right now, whatever you’re enduring now in your love life, I know these Tools will help you.

When women use the Tools I’ve developed, amazing results happen. Men show up out of nowhere, or men who’ve been difficult for years all of a sudden turn around and become loving, warm and affectionate. Dating is no longer dreadful. Instead, it becomes a great therapeutic tool that transforms you from chronically single to blissfully married in the blink of an eye.

I’ve seen this happen over and over again, so I know it’s true and I know it can happen for you.
Fall in Love With Yourself Absolutely

When you’re stuck in anger at yourself and men and the situation you’re in, when you’re stuck in blaming yourself or a man or a situation, when you’re stuck in guilt and despair and the inestimably “icky” feeling that you won’t and can’t ever be happy in love – it gets more difficult, trickier, and like a never-ending obstacle course to make the changes that actually CAN get you to lasting happiness.

Making any change toward moving in the happy direction you truly want to go begins with changing what’s going on inside your head.

That means changing your beliefs – about yourself, about men, about relationships, and about what you deserve. This Key will help you move past what’s keeping you stuck. It’ll clarify what exactly it is you really need and want, so you can manifest it.
Stop Believing Your “Nasty Voice” & Love Yourself

“The longest journey you will make in your life is from your head to your heart.” (Sioux legend)

Wanting something is essential to getting it. Once you want something fiercely enough, not only are you more able to figure out how to get it, it seems everyone else on the planet wants it for you, too. One word to describe this is synchronicity. You put out strong, clear energy that you want something, and soon you’re bumping into people in the street who can help you get it. We’ve all had these experiences.

Part of how synchronicity works is that it doesn’t know the difference between what you think you want, what you say you want, and what you really want. If you use most of your energy thinking about how miserable you are, and focusing on what you don’t like about what’s going on in your life, it’s like signaling the world to keep on sending more of the same your way.

No wonder we feel stuck! The more we complain, the more we spin our wheels. We feel like we’ll never get out of the hole of our stale relationship, never ever find a great relationship, never get off the treadmill of too much to do and too little time, never be happy.

We listen to the unsettling, angry voices in our heads because we don’t trust ourselves. We’ve created routines and habits that we don’t know how to break. I’ve been there; we’ve all been there. But there are ways out.

In this chapter, we’re going to take some first steps “out” of this “stuck place” – and it all begins with changing what’s going on inside our heads.

The basic truth here is that the road to your dream relationship starts with you. It starts inside you, and all of it starts with what you believe about yourself, about men, about life, about relationships, about who you are and what you deserve. Our lives almost never turn
